SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Why sponsor ISSP18?

- The International Symposium on Solubility Phenomena and Related Equilibrium Processes (ISSP) is an established biennial IUPAC symposium organized by the Subcommittee on Solubility and Equilibrium Data gathering international experts on solubility studies or related subjects to exchange new research and concepts. ISSP is addressing the general importance of solubility phenomena and associated physical properties in a variety of settings ranging from green chemistry to nuclear waste disposal and modern technical applications.
- ISSP conferences promote the participation and exchange of ideas of a broad spectrum of stakeholders – from academics working in science and technology to researchers in chemical, pharmaceutical, medical, materials (to electronic, building, artistic, etc. applications) industries – not forgetting the modern environmental concerns (e.g. greenhouse gases solubility, remediation of mining and industrial impacts, mineral recovery from brines and seawater, etc.), which only can be well predicted and developed if accurate and reliable data are available.
- Around 120 delegates are expected: Researchers, PhDs, students, Engineers.
- The conference language will be English.
- The main topics are:
 - Aqueous solutions at high ionic strength
 - Non-aqueous electrolytes
 - Ionic liquids and molten salts
 - Solid solutions
 - Nanoparticles
 - Fluid phase equilibria and solubility phenomena
 - Thermodynamics and Kinetics of reactions
 - Computer assisted modelling: equilibrium and kinetic calculations
 - Computer assisted modelling (ab initio, molecular dynamics and Monte Carlo)
- ISSP18 is a dedicated opportunity to:
 - Promote your services and/or products;
 - Distinguish yourself from competitors by being involved in state of the art research and innovation;
 - Prospect for new clients.
